

Discover a World of Trade Opportunities with Oracle & Redwood

Global trade isn't just about moving products from Point A to Point B. It's about navigating shifting regulations, on-again off-again tariffs, evolving customs requirements, and currency fluctuations. Across thousands of miles and multiple countries, a single mistake can lead to significant fines, penalties, missed shipments, lost sales, eroded margins, and declining customer loyalty.

Trust the Experts: Oracle and Redwood

The complexity of modern global trade exceeds manual processes, human analysis, and consumer-grade tools. That's why you need a trusted, proven solution to master that complexity.

Oracle Global Trade Management (GTM) identifies risks, threats, challenges, and opportunities across your international supply chain in real time. It assures unparalleled visibility and control over orders and shipments, while also ensuring adherence to tariffs and trade regulations.

And, when you choose to partner with Redwood for your Oracle GTM implementation, you'll achieve a seamless, fast, cost-effective launch, driven by Redwood's decades of experience and hundreds of Oracle customer success stories.

Oracle GTM: A One-Stop Source for Trade Optimization

Oracle GTM helps leading organizations not only increase their top-level profitability, speed, and service metrics, but also manage the minute details of their daily global trade activities. It's built on a firm understanding of how international trade works — from product classification and restricted party screening to landed cost estimates, trade agreement eligibility, and all the documentation needed for customs and compliance.

This specialized solution automates everyday trade processes, applying best practices and workflows that have been proven by Oracle customers. With Oracle GTM, you'll benefit from a single solution that optimizes all your trade processes across your international supply chain.

Discover these benefits:

Centralized trade compliance

Reduced risk of fines and penalties

Automation of compliance checks

Automation of manual tasks

Improved accuracy and speed
