

GLOBAL TRADE IS TAKING OFF!

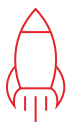

Maybe you want to get on board, but you're overwhelmed by freight modes and their associated costs, tariffs, international trade regulations, customs compliance and reporting, and other complexities. Why not turn to Redwood's experienced international team? Wherever you're doing business, we're the perfect partner.

What We Do

Air Cargo: Licensed IAC (Indirect Air Carrier) providing airfreight services through our global network.

Ocean Cargo: Licensed Non-Vessel Operating Common Carrier (NVOCC) and Ocean Transportation Intermediary (OTI).

Customs: Licensed US customs broker for importers and exporters.

Land, Sea or Air: We'll Get You There

Across multiple modes and multiple routes, the Redwood International team has already established the resources you need. We'll connect you with our extensive carrier and partner network, as well as local resources in key regions — then help you identify the best option. No matter what the final destination is, we'll get your shipment there in the fastest, most secure and most cost-effective manner.

Never Lose Sight of Your Critical Cargo

Even when your shipment is on the water or in the air, you'll always have full visibility. Redwood uses advanced digital solutions — including CargoWise, an industry-leading global TMS — to track your precious cargo in real time. Redwood connects to your own TMS and other systems to provide awareness for your internal team, as well as any external trading partners you specify.

Real-Time Disruption Management

Redwood's technology leadership also enables us to identify disruptions at the earliest possible moment, then resolve them optimally to keep your deliveries on track. When there's an exception, the Redwood International team already has contingency plans and backup resources in place, including alternate carriers and local partners.

Let's Map Your Route to Success

Whether you're just getting started in global trade, or are an experienced international shipper, Redwood's senior international advisors can help you achieve better results. With over 100 years of combined experience, our international leaders can analyze your shipping data — including your package types and sizes, destinations, costs, carrier mix and other information. They'll make practical recommendations that save millions of dollars in shipping costs, without sacrificing service, speed or customer satisfaction.
